

34

Earth, Wind & Fire at Innsbrook

DID YOU KNOW?

The Cultural Arts Center at Glen Allen opened as Glen Allen High School in 1911. Since that time, the facility served numerous functions before becoming an arts center in 1999. Today the center serves as a hub for the performing and visual arts with two different performance series, four art galleries, classes, special events and more. Many local and regional performance groups utilize the center including the Latin Ballet of Virginia, which performs and teaches classes at the facility.

SHOPPING

Doing your shopping along Route 33 and Route 1 will get you the basics, and the intersection of I-295 and I-95 adds some big-box retailers.

ENTERTAINMENT

Meadow Farm Museum at Crump Park offers living history, farm animals and events like Sheep to Shawl in the spring. The Innsbrook Pavilion is the place to go for outdoor concerts.

RECREATION

For those who prefer skating on something other than ice, Laurel Skate Park in Glen Allen has a 6,700-square-foot skating area that's chock-full of ramps, rails and other obstacles to support fun rather than obstruct it. Henrico County has a nine-hole disc-golf course at Duncroft/Castle Point Park in Glen Allen. If you're looking for 18 holes of traditional golf, head to the Dominion Club at Wyndham.

THE VIBE

Between I-64 and I-295, west of I-95, this is solid suburban territory that includes newer, planned communities, high-end shopping and sections of older, smaller homes. More diverse than you might think, the area is home to both the Hindu Center of Virginia and the Latin Ballet of Virginia.

HENRICO COUNTY (BETWEEN I-64 AND I-295)

It was all farmland just a few years ago, but now, spurred by Innsbrook — Richmond's huge business park — the area has become an edge city with major housing developments such as Wyndham and Twin Hickory.

LOOKING FORWARD

Look for new townhomes on Sadler Road in Innsbrook as construction nears completion on the Markel/Eagle development, Sadler Crossing. The $20 million project will include 44 townhomes and 16 single-family detached homes among green spaces.